ABOUT

Walrus Oil® Cutting Board Oil is 100% Food-Safe and free of toxins and synthetics, designed for new builds or for reconditioning. Finally, a heavy-duty cutting board oil that doesn't require multiple coats! It will leave your board with a silky smooth finish, rich color, and a little sheen. The perfect ratio of ingredients locks in natural wood tones while repelling water and food particles when in use. Best part is, it only takes seconds to apply.

Using Cutting Board Oil with Another Company's Products

Our Cutting Board Oil can be used in conjunction with most other oil-based finishes or epoxy and resins, such as when making a "river board" or when using wood pieces that have had cracks and holes filled with epoxy.

THE PERFECT FINISH FOR

- Cutting Boards
- Butcher Blocks
- Charcuterie Boards
- Bowls, Spoons, and Knives

PARTNER OF 1% FOR THE PLANET

We're committed to planting trees for the longterm health of the planet. Trees sequester carbon from the atmosphere and heal the land of the effects of climate change. And since logging is essential for woodworking and wood finishes is our primary business, this is a solution to not only replace the trees cut down for woodworking, but to create a surplus.

We also plant sea kelp for its ability to absorb carbon at an incredibly fast rate. While trees can take nearly 50 years to reach maturity, sea kelp can grow a foot per day, pulling carbon out of the atmosphere and storing it deep into the ocean floor within the first year of being planted.

Our planet needs a lot of help and this is our contribution to the global effort to fight climate change. Every product sold supports this mission and together I believe we're making a positive impact.
